Current Events: Is There a Message?

Our world has always been one of change. But never before in our history have these changes occurred so frequently and so quickly. Our world has shrunk so dramatically that even things that take place halfway around the world have a profound and immediate impact on our lives here: Economic shifts, technological advances, political upheavals, natural events, scientific discoveries. Is there a message? Where is it all leading? Do we have any control? This Week of Learning will address the role of the Jewish nation in this era, and will help reveal the connection between the global events we are witnessing today and our mission as individuals and as a nation.
